LETTER FROM GEORGE C. BARNES

250 Rawson St., Atlanta, Ga.,
APRIL 25, 1888.

IN AN INTRIGUE.—More than half a century ago the "Great Nullifier" stood gazing meditatively around, as he delighted from the "stage," that at irregular intervals rolled through the insignificant village, which was all of Atlanta in that early day, and predicted the building of a great city on this very spot. It was only a crossroads hamlet then, and in 1848, when I saw it on my way to Savannah, Georgia, a small town, giving little promise of what it has since grown to. But the prophecy of Mr. Calhoun has already been fulfilled, and the 75,000 population that is claimed by the sanguine will doubtless double itself in the not distant future.

It is built on more than the "7 hills" that Rome boasted of; for the whole city is made up of hills and hollows to a remarkable extent. It is not a conformation to be desired by a street car company, but it quite fills the eye and heart of the lover of picturesque possibilities. As far as I have explored, I must say the Atlantists have taken good advantage of their wealth of building sites and turned to excellent account their unrivaled position. It is a beautiful city now, and is bound to improve with time. The passion for Queen Anne architecture has taken strong hold of house builders; and once I should have thought it a blundering blunder; but it is a style that grows upon one. Disliking it violently at first, I have quite changed of late; and now, perhaps, ironically, abhor it extravagantly! The front lawns are very beautiful, and, strange to say, covered with a healthy carpetting of blue-grass, which is cultivated with such assiduous care that one is advertised, in advance, by this, that Atlanta has her share of Kentuckians for citizens. And this is even so. To our joyous surprise, we have met them in shoddy since our meeting opened; and not a few of them friends before known. Since the "wahl" Atlanta has become the capital of this grand old State, as all are aware, and the capitol building, well worthy of the city it adorns, is rapidly approaching completion. It towers grandly from its elevated site near the heart of the city, and the only criticism one can make is the regret that it has not spacious grounds around it, in keeping with its magnificent architecture.

Right through the city's midst run the railroad tracks in a bewildering network, converging in the Union Depot, and branching away N., S., E., W. in how many lines I know not. It certainly is a great railroad centre.

There is a plentitude of shade and such an influence of foliage of every sort that the residen<sup>t</sup> portions of the city are quite hidden away in a forest of trees and jungles of shrubbery, very pleasing to behold. It is a stately business place, with the rush and rattle of a young Chicago. I am afraid the "mammy devil" has a pronounced hold here. And it is not to be wondered at, considering the phenomenal growth of the place.

The Constitution gave a fair report of the first sermon; and the other papers rather full notices of the meetings. Then the ominous silence, or the guarded mention in briefest possible space, that told the old, old story of opposition doing its work. A newspaper is a perfect indifier of "respectable" sentiment, and "circulation" is everything to it. No word that would interfere with that sacred prerogative must appear in print, if the editor knows it. He is as cautious as the solarized clergyman, who dares not say what would rouse the feelings of a liberal subscriber to his annual stipend. Dear dearest! what a world it is, and how self-interested binds its incongruous elements together! "Not you, but yours!" is the way Paul's "not you, but yours" is travestied nowadays. "Will it pay?" is the wary inquiry, before "principle" is asserted. If it doesn't, who will care to uphold it? Alas! that intrepid teachers political and religious—can be counted on the fingers, as compared with the easy-going, time-serving sort! I am so glad this dreary tale of selfishness is almost spent, and the dispensation of "What will Mrs. Grundy say?" rocks upon a worn-out axle. Only I know it is to clog with a "whirlwind," the dismal harvest of the "wind" that men have sown. Only over the "rough road" will most learn in painful "reaping" to be better.

Meanwhile, I am thankful to say, our congregations grow rapidly. Last night the spacious court-room was nearly full, a larger attendance than on Sunday night, even. Praise the Lord! A fine, brawny looking man came up after service Tuesday night and said to me: "Sir, I have followed Voltaire, Paine and Jefferson for 15 years. I come back to Christ to-night." Then his eyes filled with tears and his lip quivered, till he could speak no more—only wring my hand in silence. One soul like this, delivered from the hand of the enemy, how does it repay for a thousand slights, and all the envenomed words that Scribe and Pharisée can utter!

Old Kentucky friends turn up every night. We were especially delighted to meet Mrs. Elkin, nee Miss Nellie Duncan, of Lancaster, whom I last saw upon what the good doctors pronounced her "deathbed," but who is now the picture of health. If ever there was a clear case of "Divine healing" her's was, I have always thought the beautiful faith of her sister, Mrs. Dick Warren, was the channel through which the mighty God wrought its saving, healing work. Mine seemed hardly "a grain of mustard seed" at the time, so deadly ill the dear girl seemed to be; but I only mention it now to remark how such crystal-clear cases as her's are heartlessly forgotten, while sneers on "faith-cure" and the fanatics who practice it, are equal from one general newspaper to another; and passed from one prejudiced lip to another, clerical and lay. What will glorify God—that is so easily forgotten. What will exalt man—that remains. "Oh, what will the harvest be," when the mighty day of retribution, in the hands of the great Destroyer, comes, and his treasured soul-gates on our hapless race are "troclosed"? PAY DAY IS ROUND TO COME! this, men are "willingly ignorant of."

Lots of trading men here. The fine horses that dash by, with gentles broad-brimmed slouch hats, straddling the shafts of driving surreys, and raising a dust on Peach Tree avenue, in no uncertain way proclaim that Kentucky is putting in an appearance, wherever "fancy stock" is in question.

When cable cars are substituted for the present street railway arrangements—that must needs be mile-killing and unsatisfactory where the ups and downs are so violent and frequent—there will be little to criticize physically, and Atlanta will be fully worthy of her beautiful name.

Even in Jesus.—Geo. C. Barnes.

HUBLE.

The people of this community are proud of the Interior Journal on account of its industry in gathering the news from all parts of the country.

H. Gose, from Pulaski county, was here with some cattle and sold to R. L. Hubble for about 24 cents. Cut worms are now eating grass as the corn is slow about getting up. Wheat cannot be better than a half crop here.

Saturday being the day for the election of trustees for all common schools the people should rally to the polls as though some great financial question was to be voted on. Elect men who will stand for the good of their district regardless of friends or old acquaintances. Men who will fail to employ a teacher merely because he is dressed well and wears a $5 hat to cover 25 cents worth of brains.

The Sunday-School convention met Friday night and was opened by an appropriate lecture by Bro. Caldwell, of Danville, followed by Rev. Myers and Dr. P. Bright, who gave some good ideas on the subject. Several preachers were present on Saturday and many questions were discussed very ably during the day. A query box was opened and many questions were interestingly debated. The question should pupils be allowed to use their lesson leaf while reciting? ought to have been asked and argued as follows. They should not for it only causes them to be dilatory about preparing the lesson. Boys and girls will neglect their lesson all week and when recitation comes they will drag to the seat as though they had corus on their toes and when the question is asked all will be as busy finding it as though the leaf was a mill stone and had to have a hole bored through it before using it.

When the answer is found it is poorly read and as to the meaning they are as ignorant as the unlettered rustic is of Blackstone's commentaries. If the books were closed on recitations it would cause more study, less shirking and would give more lasting insight and drive droves to business or into obscurity. The above is submitted to the officers of Sunday schools.

A WHITE SEASON.—It is more and more apparent that the coming summer is to be what is called a "white season." White will be the rage in everything—white gowns, white fans, white gloves for evening and even white stockings, which, among some of the most fashionable women, have already superseded black. Whole suits of white will be extensively worn, with hats and bonnets to match. Last summer white was not much worn.—[Philadelphia Times.]

Chesapeake & Ohio common stock is quoted at one cent since the reorganization.

LONDON, LAUREL COUNTY.

The road-working force, with John Farmer as foreman, is leveling down the hill in front of the seminary.

A 14-year-old daughter of Jeff Johnson, living two miles from here, on the Manchester road, was burned to death one day last week by her clothing, taking fire.

Miss Mamie, daughter of W. H. Jackson, has returned from Cincinnati, having graduated at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. London may congratulate herself in having so accomplished and talented a musician.

James Gregory, of Marydel, mail-carrier between here and Manchester, was arrested by Deputy U. S. Marshal F. R. Riley Wednesday evening and placed in jail on a warrant sworn out by Deputy Collector McFee, charging him with selling whisky along the mail route.

From the present outlook this place will during the coming season double in progress and in improvement. Real estate has advanced very much and several dwellings and a large and spacious building are in course of construction. Work has commenced at the planing mill, which will greatly facilitate the building of houses.

Judge R. Boyd is at home from his circuit and will commence court here again on the 14th inst. M. T. Craft returned Tuesday evening from a business trip to North Carolina and is on the sick list.

Judge Boarding, Brown, Jones and Baker were in Louisville this week attending the convention. R. B. Craft is home again from a trip through the Big Sandy country, letting mail routes. Miss Mattie Sawyers, of Neptune, Ky., is visiting relatives here.

Sunday-School Convention.

PARTICK, Ky., May 1.—The Tate's Creek Baptist Association held their Sunday-school Convention with the Mt. Tabor, Paint Lick church on last Saturday and Sunday. There was a large crowd present and the exercises were instructive and entertaining.

R. G. Shlaughter, of Brapping Springs, delivered the address on preparing and teaching the Sunday-school classes. At the close of his address he took occasion to remark as follows: "Perhaps some of you have heard that I have peculiar religious views and it may have reached your ears that I taught heresy in the Sunday-school. Well, if I do just want to say that I don't understand the meaning of the word. I believe we should teach politeness, neatness, sociability and humility in the Sunday-school class; that God is a good God, a just God and a God of love and mercy; that God wants everybody saved, but that they cannot be saved unless they are willing; that Jesus Christ is the only Son of God; that He came to this earth and suffered and died on the cross; that whosoever believed on Him should not perish, but have everlasting life, and that only in Him and through Him can any one be saved, and above all other things it is the pleasure as well as the duty of the Sunday-school teacher to try and persuade his scholars to accept Jesus Christ as their Savior. This is what I believe and what I teach; if this is heresy then I am a heretic."

Mrs. Catherine Chinn, wife of Dr. J. G. Chinn, celebrated the 10th anniversary of her birth at Lexington Tuesday. Her husband was 90 years old April 1. The aged couple were married in 1875, each having been previously married.

The Democratic State Convention of New Hampshire met at Concord Tuesday. The resolutions adopted heartily indorse the administration of President Cleveland; recommend him for renomination, and approve his message to Congress on the subject of tariff reform and the reduction of war taxes.

No one who, fatigued by over exertion of body or mind, has ever experienced the reviving influence of a tumbler of milk heated so hot as it can be sipped will willingly, says the Medical Record, forego a resort to it. The promptness with which its cordial influence is felt is indeed surprising.

The Standard Oil Company has begun the work of piping oil to Chicago from the Lima oil field. The estimated cost of the line, without the pumping machinery and reservoirs, is about $7,000 per mile. The total length of the pipe will be about 210 miles and the entire investment will aggregate about $2,500,000.

The Glasgow Times says: "Susan B. Anthony declares that all men are liars. Miss Susie should remember that even woman herself was made from a spare rib." Yes and she might also remember that the female parent of a hog is almost invariably referred to as an old sow.—[C. D. Hull.]

—The Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer Queen of the Pacific, plying between San Francisco and the Southern coast ports, sunk near Port Harford. Passengers saved.

Being More Pleasant
To the taste, more acceptable to the stomach, and more truly beneficial in its action, the famous California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, is rapidly superseding all others. Try it. One bottle will prove its merits.

CRAB ORCHARD.

Mrs. Hannah Steger is trimming for Miss Alice Hardin this season in her millinery store.

—There will be a wedding at the Christian church on the 10th of this month and the contracting parties will be one of our most popular young ladies and a certain widower hereabouts.

Rev. B. B. VanNys preached at the Christian church last Sunday afternoon and Rev. Will McKee, of Danville, Sunday night. All who heard him were very much pleased with his sermon.

—Mr. W. F. Kennedy and children desire to return their sincere thanks to the good people of Crab Orchard for their many kindnesses to Mrs. Kennedy during her long illness and especially to those who nursed her so carefully and waited upon her so faithfully. To her doctors also they extend thanks for watchful attention.

—Mrs. W. B. Dillon has returned from a visit to Mrs. Joe Trotter, in Danville. Mrs. Sam Rothwell, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Kaufman, of Lancaster, came over to Mrs. Kennedy's funeral. Mr. S. R. Kennedy, who came home to attend his mother's funeral, returned to Tennessee Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Williams went home to Mt. Vernon Monday. Misses Bettie and Sallie DeBorde, of Stanford, are the guests of their grandmother, Mrs. Andy Foley.

—It is with feelings of deepest sorrow that we announce the death of Mrs. Mary J. Kennedy. After languishing on a bed of suffering for five months she was called home on the night of April 25th. "After life's fitful fever comes rest." How sweet that rest must have been to the tired, weary, pain-racked soul that has just passed over the billows of death and into the heavenly port. Yes, she has taken her place in the throne of the redeemed ones that surround the great white throne of the Almighty Jehovah. She was born June 23, 1845; confessed religion, was baptized and united with the Christian church before she was 20; was married to Mr. W. F. Kennedy Dec. 14, 1865; and to them eight children were born, seven of whom are living. Wherever the deceased was known she was most highly esteemed and loved; for she had a kind word for all, was ever ready to aid those in distress and wait upon the sick and suffering. She bore her illness with much patience, was conscious until the last and passed away peacefully, leaving many bleeding hearts to mourn her loss.

Rev. J. G. Livingston preached the funeral discourse at the Christian church on Sunday morning in the presence of a large assembly of people, after which her remains were laid to rest in the Old Fellow's Cemetery. The grief-stricken family have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., MAY 4, 1888.

W. R. WALTON.

Like many previous appointments by President Cleveland, his nomination of Melville W. Fuller, of Chicago, to be Chief Justice, takes the country by surprise, but it is conceded on all sides that it is a happy solution of a very difficult question and that the appointee is in every way worthy of this highest of honors. Mr. Fuller was born in Maine 55 years ago and is in the prime of mental and physical vigor. He has never sought office, but has devoted his time and talents to the law in which he has attained eminence and prominence. A democrat of the old school and a believer in advanced doctrine of State rights, he is by no means a partisan, but such a man as the highest judge in the land should be. He is held in the highest regard by the president who had offered him the solicitor generalship, and positions on the Civil Service, Interstate and Pacific railroad commissions. In personal appearance Mr. Fuller is described as unusually handsome; his hair and mustaches are silvery, and his features elegant and intelligent. In stature he is short and slight compared with his future associates on the supreme bench. He is a man of high scholastic as well as legal attainments, and as an orator his talents have won him the title of the Chancery M. Depew of the West. He is a member of the Protestant Episcopal church and has been prominently identified with that organization and conspicuous in the Cheney and other famous ecclesiastical trials. Mr. Fuller married a daughter of the distinguished Wm. F. Coughlin and she has borne him eight children, all lovely girls and of marriageable ages.

INGALLS delivered his much-advertised speech Tuesday, but it was a very ordinary exhibition of clap-trap. He tried to be particularly caustic in referring to Blackburn and Voorhees and making some exploded charges against the latter he had the lie given to him direct. The speaker asked: "Did not the soldiers of Indiana threaten to hang the Senator with a bell-rope on a train after he made that Lincoln dog speech?" To which Voorhees responded: "The Senator is a great liar when he intimates such a thing—a great liar and a dirty dog. It never occurred, never in the world. That is all the answer I have, and I pass it back to the scoundrel behind the Senator who is instigating these lies," referring to Representative Johnson who sat behind Ingalls. The Kansan took it all like a baby, not even responding in the Ohio style "You're another."

The people of Summerville, Ga., got tired of the governor respecting Henry Pope, under sentence of death for outraging assault on a young lady, and when he granted another delay of 60 days in the proceedings this week they went in a body, took Mr. Pope out of jail and adored a tree with his carcass. He may have gone straight home to heaven, but the mob weren't in for any foolishness and gave him no time to say whether he was on the right road or not.

The doctors go for a man when they get a chance, especially if he is a rich one. Dr. Simmons, who was Mr. Tilden's physician, has brought suit against his executors for $143,000 for medical services. If this man of pills had visited the Sage of Ticonderoga Park every day for four years and had charged $100 for each visit, his bill would hardly have been as large as he makes. It is very likely that if $3,000 is offered him in cash he won't let the other $140,000 split the trade.

The Louisville Times, in its double number celebrating its fourth birthday, has a cartoon representing the pécuniens solons marching out of the capital with grip-sacks full of money they have not earned, each wearing a cap upon his arm and a downcast and sorrowful countenance. It is a pretty good take off all around, the distinguished member is plainly recognized in the 5th from the last of the string.

Gov. McCREARY made a speech on the tariff Tuesday, which is said by those who heard it to have been one of the best delivered before the House. Much of his remarks were directed toward T. B. Iron Koley, who had ignorantly or otherwise missated many facts with regard to Kentuckian, and he literally skinned the ancient protectionist alive.

This is a great country. Sunday while the mercury was soaring up in the 90s at Baltimore and people were sweltering and perspiring, it was snowing at Minneapolis and in the Northwest like fury, while the winds howled and whistled a real blizzard.

It is stated that 20,000 women voted at the recent municipal elections in Kansas. We wouldn't have thought that many women could be found in the whole world that were so anxious to mix sex themselves.

The democrats of Illinois confidently claim that their State will cast its electoral vote for Cleveland in November. Stranger things have happened and will happen in this glorious democratic year of our Lord.

The Kentucky rods met in Louisville Wednesday to select delegates to the National Convention and take other steps toward prosecuting the coming presidential campaign. E. P. Neal, a youth from Ohio county, was made temporary chairman, who said his little speech. W. A. Morrow, chairman of the organization committee, reported the names of Gen. W. J. Landrum for permanent chairman and J. A. Hughes for secretary and they were elected. Gen. Landrum, who is one of the best and bravest of his party, was big with a speech and fired it off in his usual impulsive manner. Col. Swope, Bradley, Denny, Tandy and others made fiery speeches and then voted for delegates for the State-at-large began. Bradley was chosen by acclamation. Denny was elected on the first, Swope was withdrawn on the second and G. M. Thomas was elected. About this time Denny and Swope got into a wrangle and the convention adjourned till 10 o'clock yesterday. A dispatch to a Cincinnati paper says: The committee on resolutions will probably make two reports, the majority endorsing Sherman and Bradley and the minority in favor of no instruction for president and for Bradley for second place. It is intimated that the Blaine and Sherman men will look horns on this report, and the cohorts are gathering to-night and preparing for a preliminary engagement.

Even of the four republican Congressmen who misrepresent Kentucky are attending the pow-wow at Louisville. So far as the value of their services are concerned it is all the same whether they are in one place or another, but it would be a little decent for them to remain where they are paid to be.

Col. Swope, after vowed he would not go to the Convention, went and had his manly beauty caricatured by the Louisville Times. A suit for damages ought to result from publishing that eagle-beaked nose and calling it Col. Swope's.

LEGISLATIVE DOINGS.

To furnish the solons with newspapers during the session cost the people $1,873, which is just so much money stolen.

An appropriation for $17,700 for improvements in the institution of the Deaf and Dumb at Danville passed the House.

This is the day fixed for the legislative per diem to be shut off. Let us pray that there will be no hitch in the programme.

The Senate bill providing the parole system in the State prison was passed in the House and will go at once to the governor for his approval.

Ninety-five local bills passed was the House's Wednesday afternoon's record. Great disorder prevailed and the menagerie howled itself hoarse.

The Senate adopted the House bill reducing the rate of taxation from 47 to 42 cents. It also passed bills to increase the pay of the Secretary of State to $2,000, the treasurer to $3,000 and circuit judges to $3,000.

The Senate passed the bill creating the office of State Inspector to be filled by appointment by the governor. The salary attached is $3,000 and the duties of the officer to examine the accounts of all State institutions.

L. M. Lasley attended the combination sale at Lexington Wednesday and says that no extra stock was offered, owing to the slimness of the crowd, several owners put off exposing their stock till next week, when the races will bring more buyers. ### DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

The 3 o'clock sonic bound fast train on the Cincinnati Southern road killed a $125 Jersey cow belonging to Col. W. F. Evans on Wednesday.

—The chief excitement this morning in the holy city of Danville is Sells' circus and menagerie. The 180 pupils of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, wishing to attend, Mr. Sells very kindly agreed to let them "pass into the inside of the tent" at 15 cents per head.

—Wakefield & Lee bought on Tuesday from H. Y. McElroy, of Washington county, 14 head 2 and 3-year-old Polled Angus cattle at $90 per head, said to be the finest cattle of this breed ever brought into Kentucky. Same firm bought of Fayette county parties five 4 and 5-year-old saddle geldings at prices ranging from $130 to $300.

A telegram was received by Mr. Gabe Caldwell Tuesday, announcing the marriage of his brother, Rev. J. W. Caldwell, at Lebanon, Tenn., to Miss John Morgan. Mr. Caldwell is a native of this county and is now pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at Selma, Ala. The bride is a daughter of Gen. John H. Morgan, the Confederate cavalry leader.

—An exchange wants to know "why it is with so many negroes dying nobody ever sees black ghost?" It is for the same reason that with so many white people dying nobody ever sees a white ghost.

—The operator who receives cablegrams sits in a dark room and the spark iron of the wire is shown in a looking-glass. This is reflected on the wall and is read in that way.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

C. J. Doty bought of Took Hubble 15 head of cattle at a fair price.

S. M. Penock is having a large sale for the eggs of his fine poultry.

The Sunday law is being enforced in Lancaster. Let her go Gallagher!

The yellow fronts now being painted in town are not signs of any malignant disease. They will be changed later.

H. C. Hunt, Curry, Howard & Co.'s popular salesman, was in this town yesterday.

W. O. Rigney has been appointed city assessor. Mrs. J. G. Sweeney, who has been quite ill, is very much improved.

A. G. Scott is an artist in his profession that of painting. The work he is now doing on the east side of the square is elegant.

Some of our citizens went to Danville yesterday to see the circus. This is not right. If the circus don't come here it ought not to be patronized.

W. B. Mason, our popular circuit clerk, went to Danville yesterday to give his little daughter a chance to see the street parade of Sell's circus. Tom Palmer is laid up with rheumatism.

Col. W. J. Landrum and his son, Louis, Wm. Herndon, and Col. Faulkner went to the convention at Louisville. Hon. W. O. Bradley is in Louisville attending the convention.

The pictures in yesterday's Times of some of the notables of the State, now attending the republican convention, do the gentlemen in question great injustice. The pictures are not near so bad as the men themselves.

The State Board of Equalization got in its work on old Garrard again, increasing the rate of taxation six per cent. on real estate and one per cent. on personality. If they keep on raising the value of property in this county our lands will be worth more than the lands lying near the cities.

A Card.

To the Editor of the Interior Journal.

There is an rumor abroad that I have caused County Clerk Geo. B. Cooper of changing more for recording deeds than the law allows, and in justice to him I desire to make this statement. Mr. Cooper and I had an argument over the question as to what is the legal fee. I afterwards spoke of the matter to several persons, giving my view of the law, thought I never said nor ever intended to intimate that he was knowingly charging more than the law allowed. He and I referred the matter to John Blain, J. W. Aleen and J. B. Paxton, all of whom agreed that Mr. Cooper was right in his charges. JOHN BAILEY.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

The State Central Committee has designated Saturday, May 5th, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the assembling of mass conventions in each county, at the Court-House, for the purpose of appointing delegates to the State Convention, which meets in Lexington, May 10th. In compliance therewith, I hereby request the democracy of Lincoln to meet at the Court-House in Stanford at 1 o'clock p. m. on the 5th, for the purpose named.

NEWS CONDENSED.

A giant poplar tree, 11 feet and 8 inches in diameter at the base and 240 feet high, was felled near Taylorsville, O. It will yield from 15,000 to 20,000 feet of lumber.

—James White, a Sergeant located at Fort Gibson, I. T., was killed in a peculiar manner. He had gone into a field to catch a horse. When near the animal it kicked at him, striking a stake he held in his hand, driving it through the Sergeant's body.

—Grand Master J. Soule Smith recommends that all the lodges of Masons celebrate the coming festival of St. John the Baptist and that the proceeds of all entertainments be contributed to that modest of charities, the Masonic Orphans' and Widows' Home, at Louisville.

—It is stated that the striking engineers on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road are rapidly seeking other employment, some taking stationary engineers, others going to farming, and some into mercantile pursuits. The impression is that 50 per cent. of them will never again return to the foot-board.

—Miss Mollie Green, a Tennessee school teacher, bravely fought and kept at bay a mad dog until the little children in her care had fled, after which she reached the door, and closing it, fell fainting to the ground. The dog, shut in the building, was afterwards killed by the neighbors. Miss Green's clothing was torn to ribbons, but she received no injuries. The parents of the children have presented her with a saddle horse.

Girls in the Garden.

If there is any one thing more beautiful than another in a garden of flowers, that thing is a beautiful girl, with a sun-bonnet on her head so wide and capacious that you have to get right square before her, and pretty near her, to see the glowing cheeks that are sure to be there if she is at all accustomed to garden walks and work. Physically there can be nothing better for daughters, and, indeed, for many wives, than to take sides, charge a small flower garden. The benefits derived from early rising and sunning the pure morning air, are freshness and glow of cheeks and brightness of eyes, cheerfulness of temper, vigor of mind and purity of heart. Consequently she must be more cheerful and lovely as a daughter, more dignified and womanly as a sister, and more attractive and confiding as a wife. If you have not the dooryard ground, then get a dozen pots and plant the seeds of flowers to your taste. The care and attention required to rear and train the growing plants occupied the mind, to the exclusion, oftentimes, of senseless novel readings—it is senseless waste of time. You listless, pale-faced, fragile thing of a girl, throw off your mock delicacy, put on gloves, if you will but work in the garden, till your cheeks vie in color with the blush of the rose you cultivate.

A Sympathizing Brother.

The congregation of a church at Elizabethtown were much shocked upon learning that their preacher had departed under the most discreditable circumstances. On the following Sunday it seemed to be the aim of nearly everyone to hush up the scandal, and, under great restraint, many uninteresting conversations were held merely to prove that the members of the church could rise above sensational gossip. Just before services were closed Brother Elijah P. Brookrod arose and said:

"Brethren and sisters, since we last met in this house something which seems to have cast a gloom over this congregation has occurred. We were all much attached to our minister; in fact we loved him, and I now propose that we offer a prayer for the wanderer."

A sensational wave swept over the audience. Another brother arose and turning to Elijah P. Brookrod, said:

"I am astonished that you should desire this congregation to pray for our erring minister—you above all others."

"Why?"

"Because he ran away with your wife."

"Yes, I know," Elijah replied, "and that is the reason why I think he will need our prayers." —[Arkansaw Traveler.]

IT WAS PAINT.—There was a sign upon the fence—the sign was "Paint," and everybody that went by, sinner and saint, put out a finger, touched the fence and onward sped, and as they wiped their finger tips "It is," they said.—[Boston Courier.]

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

DR. KENDRICK'S DISCOURSE.

Reviewed by Elder W. L. Williams.

We have never heard one syllable disparaging to the christian character of Dr. Kendrick during the long period of his active ministry. He has positive and very strong convictions. He is and has always been, as a minister, a man of war; never knew a fear nor suffered a defeat. By his hands our own body was buried with Christ, in the holy ordinance of baptism. By nature, his main force is immense; by constant culture, as brilliant as polished steel and as sharp as a two-edged sword. Like all other great reformers, in politics or religion, he has ever been the unconscious victim of absolutism, which accounts for his extremely sectarian views and feelings upon the points involved in his discourse. More persons were brought into the church in the early part of his ministry, than by that of any other man that ever preached in the county. Indeed, at that time the whole county was ripe for the harvest and well did he reap it.

With the first part of his discourse we have no criticism to offer, but heartily approve it; nor would we write one line of reply, except through a conscientious conviction of duty, to show the unscripturishness and unreasonableness of some of his main points. The burden of his discourse is war to the death upon missionary societies and the use of the organ in aid of the song-service in worship.

OUR REPLY.

In one paper these questions cannot be argued, hence we will only indicate the line of our defense, throw out our colors to the breeze, fire a shell in the direction of the enemy and let him know our whereabouts, and that we propose to hold the ground we occupy until rightly dispossessed. Dr. Kendrick makes the following issue:

1. "The Church is God's only missionary society. Do we need another? Can we do it without having 'the plagues written therein added' to us?" This statement involves the following points:

1. Every effort the Church may rightfully put forth to convert the world to Christ must be done by an individual congregation, and by its elders, deacons and members as a scripturally organized congregation and in no other way.

2. That no other arrangements must in any way be adopted than exists in each congregation, for the spread of the gospel, in all other lands.

3. To employ any other means than belongs to the organization and work of each congregation, is to incur the guilt that will bring down all "the plagues written therein (the Bible) to be added" to all such apostles as dare to be guilty of such sin! Herein is absolutism and the extremest sectarianism in their legitimate culmination. Were not the elders of the Rowland church overcome by a gush of emotion occasioned indirectly by the visit of Dr. Kendrick to his "Old Kentucky Home," when they requested the publication of that sermon? How easily the flesh yields! Do they believe our missionaries in Turkey, India, Japan, China and in the home field, that have been sent out and are being sustained by our missionary boards are incurring the wrath of God, and will experience "the plagues written in the Bible to be added" to them? If they do not, they owe it to their own consciences to withdraw their public endorsement of the sermon, and if they do, they ought not to claim connection with a people involved in such guilt and instancing to such a doom! Has the congregation in Downey City, Cal., officially sent Dr. Kendrick on a mission to Kentucky? Does he bear such credentials? Is he being sustained in his mission by his own church in Downey City, Cal.?

If the individual congregation is "God's only missionary society," and all work performed by any other agency, is subjecting the door-to-door "the plagues written in the Bible," Dr. Kendrick would not dare preach except as required by his own congregation! Is not Dr. Kendrick's visit to Kentucky of his own choosing? It is so in his preaching under the direction of "God's missionary society." It is true this organization of human business, of itself, is no red argument, yet it is eminently suggestive and has its place.

3. Dr. Kendrick's position demands that our Foreign, General, State, District and County missionary organizations shall all disband, recall all of our missionaries from foreign and home fields, each one return home and re-enter his home congregation and do nothing unless that body, as "God's only missionary society," shall command him and sustain him in the doing! All of this to be done in the interests of the primitive gospel and peace and brotherly love! Does the primitive gospel require it? No, never! My conscience would convict me of sin were I to consent to such a work. If there be those who cannot live in peace and fellowship with the Church in its efforts to convert the world by organized effort, we see nothing better than for them to withdraw and cease to disturb those who have a mind to work and not suffer these "barbarisms upon Zion" to vex their righteous souls from day to day. Our missionary work is enlarging every year; the churches are uniting in the work more generally and more liberally each successive year. The Lord has opened up the fields and given success to all of our missions more significantly than the faith of His people anticipated. The work must and will go forward. The command of our risen Lord is, "Go preach the gospel to every creature." He presumes upon the wisdom of the churches in exercising ordinary intelligence in cooperating together in the use of such agencies as will enable them, in the most efficient manner, to obey His command in converting the world to Christ. Our missionary conventions and boards are but the legitimate work of the Church to save immortal souls for whom Christ has died. These missionary agencies are but the means employed by the Church to obey the Savior's command. In what do they consist? The Foreign, General and State Societies; the Woman's Foreign and Home Missionary Society; the Church Extension Fund, with their various auxiliaries. Also district and county organizations. The Foreign Board has in its employ about 50 missionaries. The General Board has quite a strong force. The Board of Kentucky Missions has about 20 strong men in the field, to say nothing of the other States. Besides we have an Education Society in Kentucky, with about $35,000 safely invested, the interest of which can only be expended in the education of worthy and pious young men for the ministry. As the legitimate fruits of these several agencies we have near 200 young men attending our various institutions of learning, in order to qualify themselves for the gospel ministry. Dr. Kendrick's sermon is a blow, as strong as he could make it, at the interest and success of all these agencies for the spread of the gospel. He seeks the demolition of all of the societies as so many "barbarisms" upon the Church as a condition of fraternal fellowship, and charitably gives warning of the descent of all the plagues written in the Bible upon the heads of such as hold on to these "barbarisms." We have nothing but love and toward Dr. Kendrick, but we can never, no, never yield to his terms of union.

Through the several missionary agencies enumerated, hundreds of converts have been brought into the church uniformly; nor have the prospects ever been so hopeful as at the present time. Churches are being planted in the cities of Asia Minor, made famous by the missionary labors of Paul and other Apostles of our Lord. Houses of worship are now being erected there and the same old story of Jesus and His love" proclaimed and heard of in sin are being made alive, and where the people were sitting in moral darkness there, now a great light has risen upon them. On the return trip of Bro. Errett from Jerusalem, he called at one of our mission stations in Asia Minor to see the missionaries and their converts. Among the latter was an aged woman, whose language Bro. Errett could not understand, so it was only through an interpreter that he could speak to them. When bidding them farewell, the aged woman took him by the hand and turning her eyes upward, she pointed her bony finger toward heaven, signifying, though I can see you no more on earth, I hope to meet you up there. But Dr. Kendrick stigmatizes the agencies by which this blessed work is accomplished as "barbarisms" upon the Church, and demands these agencies shall all be abandoned for the sake of peace or intimacy of the "plagues" will be poured out upon somebody! How can he consistently require the removal of these "barbarisms" until he can demonstrate some better plan? What mission work has he and those who agree with him undertaken in foreign lands? How many missionaries have they in China, in India, in Japan, in Holland, in Turkey, in England? How much money do they annually contribute to missionary work? What are they doing? What have they ever done? What do they propose to do?

My own observation covers a period of about 40 years, and that leads me to despair of them ever doing or undertaking to do anything worthy of the Church of God in converting the world to Christ. One thing can be relied upon with very great certainty: Dr. Kendrick will never cease to complain and antagonize the Church in its only effective efforts to evangelize the world. He is among the first preachers of the Christian Church I ever heard with any interest. His preaching was always marked for mental vigor and a magnetizing sympathy, but so saturated with fault-finding, and often over trivial matters, as to render it, to my own soul, well nigh unprofitable. In this respect he is as nearly the same yesterday, to-day and forever as any living man ever was. I indulged the hope, with some misgivings, that his visit to Kentucky would be enjoyable to himself and profitable to all the churches that he could visit, and I felt anxious to aid, if possible, in the accomplishment of so desirable a result. Until Dr. Kendrick can demonstrate some more scriptural and practical plan of converting the world to Christ than the agencies now employed by the Church, he might as well suppress his heliose proclivities and allow the sun of his busy life to go down in peace with all his brethren. Can Bro. Kendrick place his fingers upon one green spot upon all of this broad earth that has been kept spiritually green and flourishing by his life-long war upon missionary societies? Has it not been a constant source of worry to himself and a positive evil to his brethren? Can not Bro. Kendrick conscientiously co-operate with our missionary boards? If not, we could not conscientiously abandon them. Separation becomes inevitable.

But as we are a lover of good music we will consider briefly the second main question raised in the discourse under review, viz:

THE USE OF THE ORGAN.

What we have to say upon this question will be brief, for the reason that the question is about settled. Few now care to read an argument pro or con upon the subject. The churches intend to take the question out of the hands of the preachers and settle it themselves among those whose gifts impose the obligation of conducting the singing in the congregation. A few preachers, however pronounced their mental assent, can no longer dictate the policy of the churches upon this question. They intend to exercise the right of private judgment. But we pause until after the Lord's day — to-morrow!

INTERLUDE.

In order to hear Bro. Kendrick preach once more in this life, we excused our class of young men from reciting the regular lesson and rode out to McCormick's Meeting-House. We anticipated a characteristic discourse, nor were we disappointed. Substantially it was a reproduction of the one that has called forth this reply, only the main points were approached from a different angle. As I took no notes, the following points are stated from memory:

1. The beginning of Christianity was humble, yet it was perfect; as the Church multiplied in numbers and increased in wealth it became corrupt in the same proportion.

2. Each successive reformation was commenced in humility and weakness, but in purity. Each one of these apostasies in proportion as they increased in numbers and wealth.

Our own reformation had followed in the broad way of all the rest. This reformation had abandoned its original ground in the following particulars:

1. They did not now "contend earnestly for the faith once delivered to the saints."

2. We had other organizations than the Church, which was God's only missionary society.

3. The churches were employing pastors other than the local elders.

4. Many of these were "young college-bred pastors."

5. The churches were paying them definite salaries. They were hirelings, preaching wherever they could procure the largest salary. As the expression "young college-bred pastor"—pronounced with a thinned accent of withering sarcasm—fell from his lips in burning rebuke for daring to receive a salary for their labor, the affectionate language of the Apostle Paul to young Timothy rose up in my mind: "Let no man despise thy youth, but be thou an example of the believers;" "mediate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them, that thy profit may appear to all." The contrast was painfully vivid. Then came a terrific attack upon the use of the organ, as a flagrant departure from the original purpose of the reformation, as a practice condemned by the word of God. As if to force conviction sure and lasting upon the minds of the members, a quotation from the writings of Alexander Campbell was made that its use in this worship was incongruous as a "cowbell in a concert." Of course this happy dingle from such a source was relied upon to make the effort tell upon the audience. The new strategic maneuver was made to ward off the forced continued use of the organ in the worship of God as set forth in the Old Testament. It reminded me of some of Bro. Barnes' scolding rebukes of John, Jacob and others, for their unjust views of God and His providence. It was stated that David introduced the use of the organ in the worship without any authority and that there was no evidence that the Lord ever sanctioned it. There now! Away goes the divinely inspired hymn-book of Israel, as an innovation and corruption of the worship! The book of Psalms, that expresses the inner desires and aspirations, the spiritual longings and heavenly raptures that have garnished the hope of God's children with bright visions of their heavenly home in all ages, this sacred book, recognizing the use of the organ upon every page, must be condemned as "corrupt" and assigned to the dark list of books "disallowed of men," yet "chosen of God and precious." How much more of the Old Testament must go to the same place and for the same reason, we were not informed. But since the instrument was used to aid the voice in praising the God of Israel, long centuries before David was born, and before the law of Moses had ever been given, we have grave fears for the fate of the entire Old Testament. Alas! alas! Certain it is that it was used by Israel in Egypt, also Miriam the prophetess and sister of Moses, had not resort to its use under the inspiration of that marvellous deliverance at the Red Sea. Wonder if that jubilant song of triumph, accompanied by the sweet chords from the instrument, was a "corruption of the worship!" Wonder if it wounded the good feelings of any of the brethren! Wonder if any left the army of Israel and wandered off into the wilderness because they could not conscientiously tolerate such impure worship, and journeyed no longer with their brethren towards the promised land! I accord to Bro. Hendrick as much of sincerity as I claim for myself, but believe him to be, upon this question, blinded by life-long prejudice. Yet, after all,

do them. Separation becomes inevitable.

But as we are a lover of good music we will consider briefly the second main question raised in the discourse under review, viz:

THE USE OF THE ORGAN.

What we have to say upon this question will be brief, for the reason that the organ was used by Israel with divine approval, as we know it was, no ingenuity of man can overshadow it, and not now be used with equal propriety and profit. The septuaginta Greek into which the Hebrews of the Old Testament was translated, is the same dialect in which the New Testament Greek was written. The same Greek word, pipedio, that there in the old signifies to sing in connection with the instrument, is employed through the New Testament and in the same sense. In the New Testament, when a statement is made expressive of the specific act done, a word is always employed that conveys that idea. When it is said the Disciples "sang a hymn," in the upper room in Jerusalem, a word is employed that shows no instrument was employed. If then the Holy Spirit intended to exclude the use of the instrument from the songs of the worshippers, a word would have been employed that disallowed its use. But the contrary is true. The same Greek word that expresses the idea of singing in connection with the instrument in the Old Testament, is the same word that is brought over into the New Testament whenever the regular and future songs of praise are referred to. We find then the use of the organ indicated in the New Testament by the word employed, with corresponding certainty with which we find immersion indicated by the use of the Greek baptizo. We have gone over the ground again and again. We know whereof we affirm. The word of the Lord we cannot afford to surrender.

REPLY CONCLUDED.

Bro. Kendrick makes the implied charge in his published sermon that the use of the organ incurs "all the guilt that attaches to the word of God." That such serious charges should be endorsed by the elders of the Rowland church, by a request from them, for the publication of the sermon under review, almost staggers our credulity. We put the question directly to them. Did they make such a request? If not, they will correct the statement. If they did, and now see they did so without mature reflection, they will withdraw such endorsement. If they did make such request and still endorse the charges implied in the discourse, they ought to wash their hands of all connection with a body of people known as the Christian Church, so corrupt in their profession and doomed to eternal punishment from God.

Bro. Kendrick makes the implied charge in his published sermon that the use of the organ incurs "all the guilt that attaches to the word of God." That such serious charges should be endorsed by the elders of the Rowland church, by a request from them, for the publication of the sermon under review, almost staggers our credulity. We put the question directly to them. Did they make such a request? If not, they will correct the statement. If they did, and now see they did so without mature reflection, they will withdraw such endorsement. If they did make such request and still endorse the charges implied in the discourse, they ought to wash their hands of all connection with a body of people known as the Christian Church, so corrupt in their profession and doomed to eternal punishment from God.
